

Dear All Valuable Participants from the world

Thank you for attending The 2nd International Water Safety Symposium in Incheon, South Korea.

The 2nd IWSS has achieved the great success with 400 participants from 20 different nations. 75 good quality papers were presented for the same goal of water safety and saving lives. We hope you found the conference enjoyable and that you left with some new ideas to implement in your own practice.

It was great opportunities to share professional knowledge and learn your ideas. You were a great group and your enthusiasm and positive spirit made our time productive and fun.

Specially, We'd like to thank our featured speakers Dr. Tom Griffiths, Dr. Amit Lotan, Mr. Daniel Schaffer and Dr. Jung Lyul Lee who gave inspiring and engaging speeches.

We'd also like to thank our co-organizers and international partners, FEE and IFSTA.

The 3rd IWSS will be organized in South Korea, in 2018. The date and place will be confirmed soon. We hope more professionals and experts from social science, engineering, and other disciplines come for one goal, improving water safety and saving lives.

Once again, thank you for your time and efforts for the symposium and be reminded to submit your full paper by September to be published in prestigious journal, "Journal of Coastal Research".

We look forward to meeting you again.

Sincerely yours

The 2nd IWSS Local Organizing Committee
